

Why We Wonder

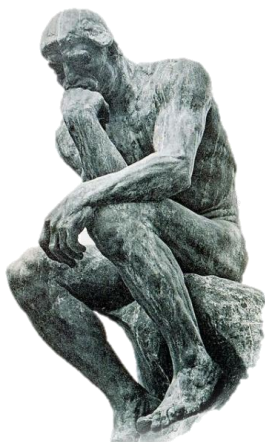

Why We Wonder

Why We Wonder

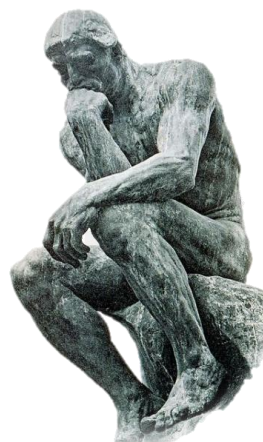

Why We Wonder

Why We Wonder

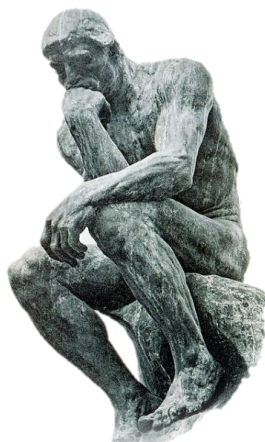

Why We Wonder

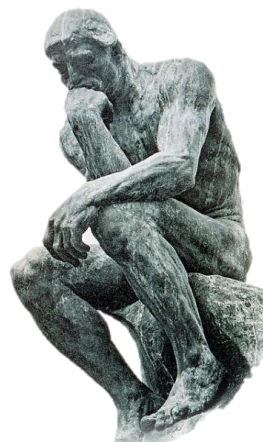

Why We Wonder

Why We Wonder

Why We Wonder

Confucius

Why should we honor those who came before us?

Respect and harmony in relationships

Values & Culture

Lao Tzu

When is doing less actually the best thing we can do?

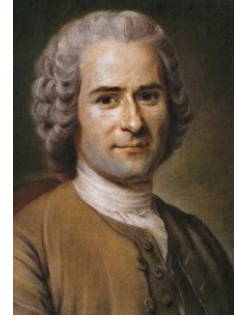

Wu Wei
(effortless action)

Values & Culture

Jean-Jacques Rousseau

Are we born good or do we learn to be good?

Natural goodness of humans

Values & Culture

Augustine of Hippo

How do we understand something as invisible as time?

Time and memory

Values & Culture

Buddha (Siddhartha)

Where does suffering come from and how can we respond to it?

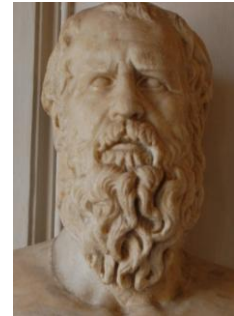

Suffering & mindfulness

Values & Culture

Heraclitus

How do we deal with the fact that everything is always changing?

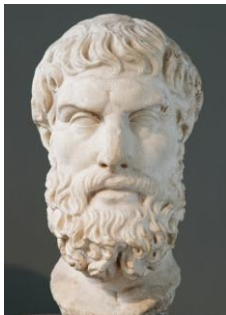

Constant change

Values & Culture

Epicurus

What simple things bring us the most joy?

Simple pleasures and happiness

Values & Culture

Baruch Spinoza

How are we connected to the universe and everything in it?

Unity of nature
& divinity

Values & Culture

Mary Wollstonecraft

What happens when we do not give everyone a fair chance?

Equality & education

Values & Culture

Martha Nussbaum

How can we treat everyone with care even when we disagree?

Dignity and compassion

Values & Culture

Peter Singer

What responsibilities do we have to other living beings?

Animal ethics and compassion

Values & Culture

Thich Nhat Hanh

How can we feel more connected to one another and the world?

Mindfulness and inter-being

Values & Culture

Cornel West

Why is it important for us to speak truth even when it is hard?

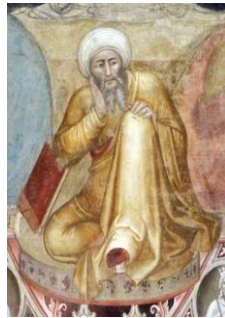

Justice and truth-telling

Values & Culture

Averroes (Ibn Rushd)

Can we believe in something and still look for evidence?

Reason and religion

Systems & Society

Montesquieu

Why is it safer when we share power and responsibility?

Separation of powers

Systems & Society

Hannah Arendt

What should we do when we see something that is not right?

Responsibility & action

Systems & Society

Diogenes

Do we really need all the things we want?

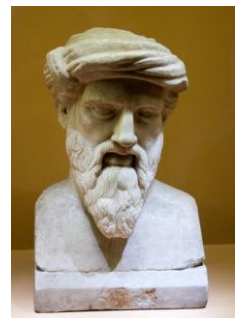

Simplicity and critique of society

Systems & Society

Pythagoras

Is there hidden order in the way our world works?

Harmony and numbers

Systems & Society

Democritus

How do we know something is real if we can not see it?

Atoms and the unseen world

Systems & Society

Gottfried Leibniz

Do we live in the best world we can imagine?

Best of all possible worlds

Systems & Society

Voltaire

How do we stay open to ideas that challenge our own?

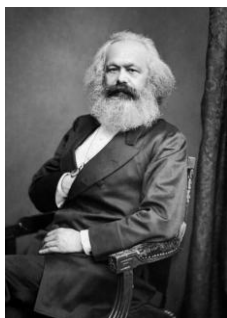

Reason and tolerance

Systems & Society

Karl Marx

Why do some people have more power than others?

Class and power

Systems & Society

John Rawls

How would we design rules if we did not know our place in society?

Fairness and justice

Systems & Society

Michel Foucault

How does the way we learn shape who has power?

Power and knowledge

Systems & Society

Angela Davis

How do we fight for justice in our own communities?

Resistance and liberation

Systems & Society

Rachel Carson

What do we owe the Earth and all living things on it?

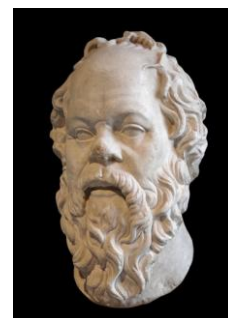

Nature and responsibility

Systems & Society

Socrates

What makes our questions better than our answers?

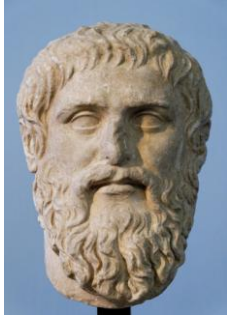

Socratic questioning

Self & Identity

Plato

Do we believe there's a perfect version of everything?

World of forms / idealism

Self & Identity

Avicenna (Ibn Sina)

What makes us who we are, apart from the fact that we exist?

Essence vs Existence

Self & Identity

Simone de Beauvoir

How do we shape who we are becoming?

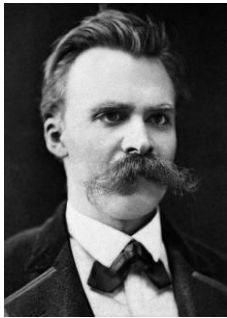

Freedom and becoming

Self & Identity

Friedrich Nietzsche

What does it mean for us to grow stronger through challenges?

Overcoming the self

Self & Identity

Zhuangzi

Can we always tell what is real in our lives?

Dreams and reality

Self & Identity

Blaise Pascal

What do we risk by believing or not believing something?

Belief and uncertainty

Self & Identity

Albert Camus

Can we create our own meaning even if life feels uncertain?

Absurdity and meaning

Self & Identity

Judith Butler

How do we decide who we really are?

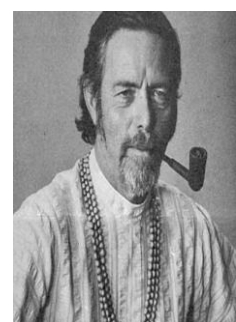

Identity and gender

Self & Identity

Alan Watts

Are we separate individuals or part of something larger?

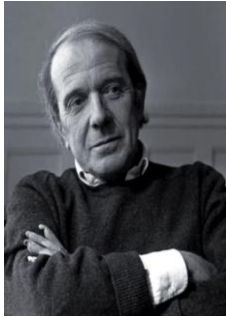

Illusion of the separate self

Self & Identity

Gilles Deleuze

Why should we celebrate being different?

Creativity and difference

Self & Identity

Soren Kierkegaard

How do we become our true selves?

Authenticity and angst

Self & Identity

Rumi

How can we listen more closely to the voice inside us?

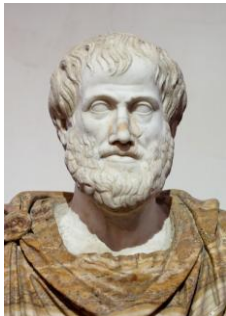

Inner truth and spiritual love

Self & Identity

Aristotle

What do we need to live a good and meaningful life?

Virtue ethics

Knowledge & Truth

Descartes

How do we know what is real in our world?

Rational doubt

Knowledge & Truth

David Hume

Can we be sure the future will always be like the past?

Problem of induction

Knowledge & Truth

Immanuel Kant

Should we always follow rules even when it's hard?

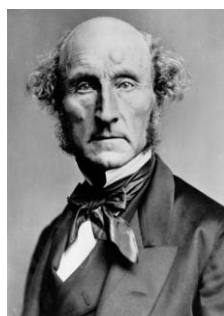

Duty and moral law

Knowledge & Truth

John Stuart Mill

How can we make decisions that help the most people?

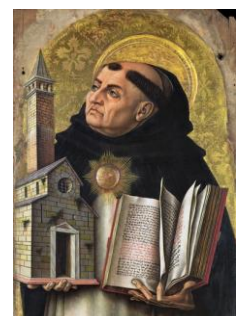

Utilitarianism

Knowledge & Truth

Thomas Aquinas

Can we believe things that we cannot prove with reason?

Reason and faith

Knowledge & Truth

Hypatia

Why should we stay curious about how things work?

Logic and science

Knowledge & Truth

John Locke

How do we build our knowledge from experience?

Tabula Rasa
(blank slate)

Knowledge & Truth

Bertrand Russell

How can we ask better questions to understand the world?

Clarity in thinking

Knowledge & Truth

Marcus Aurelius

How can we stay calm when life feels chaotic?

Stoicism & self control

Knowledge & Truth

Epictetus

How do we decide what is worth worrying about?

Being at peace with what you can control

Knowledge & Truth

Boethius

Do we control our own future or are some things meant to be?

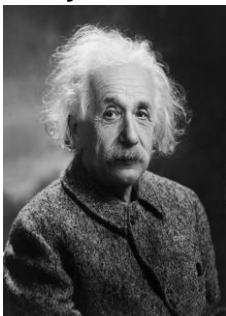

Fortune and fate

Knowledge & Truth

Albert Einstein

Why should we keep asking questions even about big mysteries?

Wonder and imagination

Knowledge & Truth